2. What have you enjoyed most about studying here?

Part D. Write a passage of approximately 200 words. (30%)

“Just Google it,” someone says. I trust Google to find me answers to everything from the mundane to the medical. Now, after a decade in which our increasing obsession with social media brought our computers out of the study and into the living-room, more of us are turning to the internet even when our question is emotional or irrational. The result: two decades after the birth of the web, our search histories have become a mirror to every aspect of our lives.
